PREFACE

Volume Seven of the New Catalogus Catalogorum now published here deals with the Sanskrit and allied works and authors from Cā to Ñ in the alphabetical order. The next volume will deal with entries extending from Ta to Da and is expected to be published before the end of this year.

I have followed the general pattern laid down by my predecessors, Dr. C. Kunhan Raja and Dr. V. Raghavan. As in the case of the previous volume the complete bibliography and abbreviations have not been given here; only those that are additionally used in this volume are given. Complete bibliography and abbreviations will be found in Volume I and Volume II.

Among the important items on which special editorial work had to be done in this volume are the different authors with identical names like Jagannātha, Janārdana, Jayadeva, Jinasena and Jinabhadra; works like Chāndogyopaniṣad, Caurapañcāśikā and Jātaka-paddhati and authors like Cānakya and Jaimini.

Queries are often received from scholars in India and abroad for detailed information about Sanskrit and allied works and authors. The primary slips have been collected, checked, consolidated and arranged alphabetically; yet each item is being taken up, studied afresh and digested, checking the descriptive matter in catalogues and printed editions and consulting research papers and histories of literature before finalising the matter for the press with a view to make it more useful for research scholars.

On behalf of the Madras University I wish to express our thanks to the University Grants Commission for their generous financial assistance both for the publication of these volumes and for the additional staff engaged in this task.

I am deeply indebted to Padmasri Thiru N. D. Sundaravadivelu, Vice-Chancellor of the Madras University, for his encouragement which has enabled me to continue the tremendous work of the New Catalogus Catalogorum project along with the normal work of the Sanskrit Department.

I am thankful to the members of the Staff of the New Catalogus Catalogorum section, past and present, for their devoted work and to the Bharathi Vijayam Press for their cooperation in bringing out this volume.

चाणक्यनीति various collections of Niti verses ascribed to Cāṇakya are known under different names. O. Kressler made a study of these texts and fixed the number of Cāṇakya compendia to 17 versions. (Indica, 4, Leipzig 1907). L. Sternbach has re-examined the problem and shown that these texts can be divided into six versions: I. Vṛddha-Cāṇakya—Larger version II. Vṛddha-Cāṇakya—Shorter version III. Cāṇakyanītiśāstra IV. Cāṇakyaśārasaṅgraha V. Laghu-Cāṇakya VI. Cāṇakyaśāsanītiśāstra. These versions and the Ur-Text have been reconstructed and edited by L. Sternbach in Vishveshvaranand Indological Series. Cāṇakyaśāsanīti in seventy verses may perhaps be another version. See edn. by K. V. Sarma, VVRI. Hoshiarpur. Mss. of these versions are given below. In the case of some of the mss. details are not known and are included in the different versions on the basis of the titles.

जैमिनि ancient authority on Mim. According to tradition he was born in Dvaitavana (Deoband) and was a student of Bādarāyaṇa (a. of Brahmasūtras); Jaimini and Bādarāyaṇa refer to each other, perhaps indicating contemporaneity of redaction of both Sūtras. One Jaimini is ref. to in Āśval. gṛh. sūtra III. iii. 5. According to Kumārilabhaṭṭa, Tantravārttika on I. iii. 2(5), Jaimini is the a. of Chāndogyānuvāda (एतज्जैमिनिवैव छान्दोग्यानुवादे). A gṛh. sūtra and a śr. sūtra are generally ascribed to him; but Jaiminiya or Talavakāra is one of the śākhās of Sv. and works belonging to this school are known as Jaimini's. Many later works like Jaiminibhārata (Jaiminiyāśvamedha) and Jaiminisūtra (jy.) are ascribed to him. On different Jaiminis see K. A. Nilakantha Sastri, Ind. Ant. 50, pp. 167 ff.

On the date of Jaimini see Jacobi JAOS. 33; JOR. Madras, III. pp. 40ff. Ind. Ant. 50. pp. 167-74. Dasgupta, Hist. of Ind. Phil. I. p. 370. O. 400 B.C. seems to be a reasonable date for him.
